

THE P. C. EDITOR SAYS—

It was a terrible shock to us early Wednesday morning when over the phone we received the news that C. D. Matthews, Jr. had passed away suddenly at 3:30 o'clock. We can hardly express our feelings as we realize that our friend, your friend, Sikeston's friend, and everybody's friend is no more. He was the outstanding citizen of all Southeast Missouri, was known far and near as a man of sound judgment, good common sense and true to his trust as the keeper of accounts. Personally to us he was a friend and advisor, a well wisher, an admirer of our big family of children who were making a good name in the communities in which they reside. To write of him and keep back a tear is hard for us as he was a Big Brother in every way. Though he is not now with us in life his memory will always linger with us until we join him in the hereafter.

It was our pleasure to again have a visit with Aunt Jane Pearl, of Blodgett, who was in Sikeston Tuesday. We sat in a booth at the Hollingsworth Drug Store and Aunt Jane preferred chocolate ice cream to any other. During her 86 years she has seen many changes but confesses the sun looks mighty good to her. May this wonderful old lady continue in good health.

There was a fish fry held in a Cypress Grove near Hornersville, Dunklin County, Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 to which about 100 men of that vicinity and other sections of Southeast Missouri attended. It was our pleasure to have been one of those present. Bushels of fish browned to a turn, plenty of bread, pickles, onions, coffee, soft drinks and hard drinks were in evidence as well as 10 gallons of ice water. We think it is a very great honor to have been invited to so many of these fish fries and barbecues in both Mississippi and Dunklin Counties until now we feel that we are one of the citizens of all Southeast Missouri instead of just a citizen of Sikeston. It has been a great pleasure to have met so many good fellows at these "square meals" and we stand ready to respond at any time an invitation is received. From Sikeston Messrs. Douglas, Gashe, Waters and the editor were present.

Wednesday afternoon we called to pay our respects to two friends who are ill at their homes in Sikeston. They were Gid Daniels, taking the rest cure for tubercular illness, and Norman Davis who recently had a slight paralytic stroke. Both were cheerful and hopes for a full recovery in the near future, and we joined them in their hopes. We were much older than either of these gentlemen, enjoying the best of health and unable to lend either of them a part of it. We are glad that we called.

Women sometimes wonder why men make remarks about their dress, and their form in general. We are going to give a reason and you may not like it, but it is the truth nevertheless. Wednesday morning we saw a very pretty young woman on the street wearing a very pretty dress cut low and square in the back with narrow straps over the shoulders to keep what little front there was from falling down. She wore no brassieres which gave way to a quarter moon size of well developed breast that would attract the attention of a man much older than our informant. Then there is the woman, old and young, who has to use a shoe horn or something similar to get the dress down over her hips. All of this while not objectionable to mere man, does cause remarks by the innocent bystander.

Perhaps you have already read in the Metropolitan Press where some councilman in Kansas City was claiming that Matt Murray should repay the city some $10,000 for pay as Director of Public Works in that city while acting as Supervisor of WPA for the State of Missouri under Mr. Hopkins at Washington. It has never been a secret that Mr. Murray was holding down both jobs and doing it satisfactorily to all parties concerned. Anyway if Matt is short of change just let us know how much and we'll send our check.

It comes to us that some few of the neighborhood grocery stores have stated they would not close their doors Sunday mornings. The closing on Sunday is both a city ordinance and a State law and those who refuse to obey the law are subject to a fine or jail sentence, or both. There is nothing else for the police to do but make arrests and the police judge to assess penalties. Better close and save embarrassment and money.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bloomfield and sons are spending two weeks visiting Mrs. Bloomfield's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Barnett in Denver, Colo.

McGee Granted Another Trial By Supreme Court

A new trial for Claud McGee, former Cape Girardeau river worker and who twice broke jail at Benton, was granted Monday by the State Supreme Court and convictions for two others of this immediate district, one of the McGee's brother, were upheld by the same court.

Claud McGee was tried at Benton on a charge he aided with the holdup and slaying of W. Tom Carlton, railroad station pumping operator at Grays Point, May 8, 1935, and was sentenced to be hanged. The new trial was based on the contention that McGee was unjustly denied a change of venue before he went to trial in Scott County.

Otto Menz, near Chaffee, will have to serve his term of 15 years, the Supreme Court holding his conviction in Circuit Court at Jackson was proper. He was charged with taking part in another holdup slaying, in Frank Roseme's store at Rockview, Dec. 7, 1933. Roseme was apparently robbed then beaten to death with an iron box opener. After being convicted at Jackson, following granting of a change of venue, Menz appealed.

His wife, Edith Menz, was charged in the investigation, but the case was finally dismissed. Another man, named a co-defendant, was acquitted.

Claud McGee twice crawled out of the old county jail at Benton, and each time was recaptured. Once he gave up at Charleston and the second time was captured without a gun fight, in Oklahoma. Floyd Smith, a co-defendant in the Carlton case, earlier was given a new trial, on the same grounds, and is to be given a second court hearing. John B. Manor, another under charge in the same case, escaped the first time McGee left the Scott County jail, and is still at liberty.—Cape Mis-sourian.

CHAS. D. MATTHEWS, Jr.

C. D. Matthews, Jr., 61 years old, president of the bank of Sikeston since 1916, died suddenly of thrombosis at his home at 3:30 Wednesday morning. He attended to his duties at the bank Tuesday and was seemingly well except for what he thought was a slight touch of indigestion. He called at the office of Dr. T. C. McClure after banking hours and his condition was considered in no way alarming.

Dr. H. M. Kendig was called about 10:00 o'clock Tuesday night, Dr. McClure being in St. Louis, when Mr. Matthews seemed to be suffering from indigestion. When Mr. Matthews was no better by midnight Dr. Kendig was called again and the family was called in.

Funeral services are being held today (Friday) at 1:30 at the Methodist Church with the Rev. E. H. Orear in charge. Interment will be in the Sikeston City cemetery.

Mr. Matthews was born February 5, 1876, the oldest son of C. D. Matthews, Sr., and Elizabeth Greer Matthews. E. C. Matthews who died 6 years ago was a younger brother. Another brother by this marriage died in infancy.

Mr. Matthews was for 10 years a member of the Missouri State Highway Commission and served in this capacity under three governors. For several years he was chairman of the Commission. He was recently appointed to the Missouri State Eleemosynary Board by Governor Stark, and he was a member of the Board of Trustees of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. Matthews had been President of the Bank of Sikeston for 21 years, since the reorganization of the bank as a State Bank in 1916 by his father, C. D. Matthews, Sr. The bank was originally founded by Mr. Matthews senior in 1877 as a private institution and remained as such until 1916 when it was organized as a State Bank and distributed among the members of the family. Mr. Matthews senior died October 13, 1917 at the age of 75 years.

The Bank of Sikeston was first located in the brick building on the corner of New Madrid and Front Streets now occupied by the Sterling Store. It was later moved to the bank building now occupied by Norton's Shoe Store before being moved into the new present building.

Mr. Matthews attended Christian Brothers College in St. Louis and Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Virginia Phillips and C. D. Matthews, III, both of Sikeston, children of his first marriage to Miss Kate Lennox. There are no survivors from his marriage to the present Mrs. C. D. Matthews, Jr., formerly, Miss Eleanor Ballard. A daughter, Miss Eleanor Ballard, died at the age of four years. He is survived by two grandchildren, Dot and Charles, children of his son.

He also is survived by one brother, Joseph L. Matthews, an official in the Bank of Sikeston, a stepmother, Mrs. Betty Matthews, an aunt, Mrs. F. M. Sikes, an uncle, G. B. Greer, Sr., and a

Disputed Collector Fees To Bring Two Suits

Senator J. C. McDowell of Charleston, who with the law firm of Oliver & Oliver of Cape Girardeau, is representing Scott County Collector C. E. Felker and the collectors of Cape Girardeau and Mississippi Counties in a suit to withhold more fees than is deemed proper by the State Auditing Department, told the Standard this week that the case would be brought up in Circuit Court and then possibly taken to the State Supreme Court.

As previously stated in the Standard and other newspapers it was shown in the recent Scott County audit that in the case of County Collector C. E. Felker, there is a disputed amount of $2511, which the state claims is fees the collector should pay in, and the collector states under the law he is entitled to retain. The sum is from the 2 per cent fee on collection of delinquent taxes. Mr. Felker states that he has the disputed funds in escrow, and that he will pay when satisfied he owes it to the state and the county.

Mr. Felker, as stated above, is bringing suit to prove he is entitled to the said amount of fees, and at the same time Prosecuting Attorney W. P. Wilkerson is planning to demand payment and bring suit if necessary, for the payment of the fees to the state and county as he is authorized to do following the showing of the audit.

$7,500 Work Insurance Job to Andrew Murphy

Jefferson City, June 19.—Andrew J. Murphy, Louisiana, member of the state tax commission since June 1, 1933, Saturday was appointed by Governor Stark as a member, representing the public, of the unemployment compensation commission.

The governor designated Murphy as chairman of the commission and named him for the 6-year term.

The other two members of the commission, which is to administer the employment compensation act, will be named soon. Governor Stark said. One will represent labor and the other industry. Of the two remaining appointments, one is for two years and the other for four. Appointments in the future will be for full 6-year terms, with one member to be named each two years.

Murphy, a close political and business associate of Governor Stark for many years, resigned as a member of the state tax commission. He was born in Chanute, Kas., 67 years ago, but has lived in Missouri 64 years. He was a wholesale grocer in Louisiana 40 years. He first moved to the governor's home county of Pike in 1894.

For the last 25 years Governor Stark and the chairman of the unemployment compensation commission have been close personal friends and associates. Murphy was secretary-treasurer and general manager of the Champ Clark Bridge association of which Governor Stark was president.

He was a member of the executive committee of the Citizens' road committee of which Governor Stark was chairman. That committee was the organization behind the 75 million dollar road bond campaign in 1928.

Murphy, who came to Jefferson City in 1933 as a member of the tax commission, was the mainstay of former Governor Park in tax matters and on state fiscal questions. Since Governor Stark's inauguration, his fellow townsman has been at his right hand in many conferences.

As chairman of the unemployment compensation commission, Murphy will have what is considered the biggest job in the state right now—the setting up of the administrative machinery to handle unemployment benefits for 600,000 employees of the state and to take care of contributions of 11 million dollars of 1937 payroll taxes from 60,000 employers of eight or more persons.

Next year the payroll taxes, which jump from 2 to 3 per cent in 1938 and thereafter, will amount to about 16½ million dollars. He will be in charge of working out the details for individual industries, if employment is so stabilized that little or no benefits need be paid to employees.

Each of the three commissions will be paid $7,500 a year.

Murphy was active in last year's campaign on behalf of Governor Stark and the entire Democratic ticket. He accompanied the governor on many of his campaign trips, was frequently seen about Stark headquarters in the primary drive and at Democratic state headquarters here during the general campaign.

The appointment was hailed here as an excellent one and as an indication that Governor Stark would select men of experience to serve on the commission as representatives of industry and labor.

The machine is being installed in the bottling plant operated by E. J. Simon, president of the corporation and J. Secrest, secretary-treasurer.

In the near future the large bottling machine will be installed and more machinery will arrive later. As soon as all the machinery can be shipped in and installed Manager Simon plans for a formal opening for the general public. ### Chamber Plans to Bring In Strong Softball Teams

The Junior Chamber of Commerce voted at their Tuesday night meeting to bring in a champion softball team sponsored by the Merit Clothing Company of Mayfield, Ky., to meet an all-star team from the Sikeston softball leagues on the night of Tuesday, July 6. The Merit team was undefeated until last week when they lost 7 to 6 in a 12 inning encounter with a strong Memphis team.

As a curtain raiser on July 6, the Chamber of Commerce team will play the Charleston Junior Chamber team. An admission price of 10 cents will be charged at the gate to defray expenses.

A committee consisting of Cletis Bidwell, Buddy Matthews and Kemper Bruton was appointed by President Sidwell to make definite arrangements about playing a game with the Los Angeles Red Devils, quarter-finalists in the national tournament held at Chicago last year. They were defeated in the tournament by Rochester, N. Y., present national champions. On tour the Red Devils won 30 out of 33 games. Their pitcher, King Kong Kelly, was voted the most valuable player in the national tournament.

The team can be secured for a game here early in July, while on their way to this year's national tournament, for $65.00. The committee is making investigations concerning securing rain insurance and substitute arrange-

MAN HAS RIGHT TO STUDY THE LEGS OF GIRL HE WOULD WED

Hollywood, June 22.—A smart and cautious man has every right to study the legs of the girls he intends to marry, Leroy Prinz, film dance director declared today.

He is entitled to do it, Prinz explained, because a girl's legs reveal a lot about her character.

Prinz, in his professional work, has been compelled to study female underpinnings.

If you are looking for a wife, he prescribed, select a girl with long knees—she will be affectionate and constant. Prinz did not bother to explain why this should be.

Manager Linn Swain of the Junior Chamber of Commerce softball team has announced that the female aggregation of softballers which was to have made its appearance here last Friday night and was rained out, will be here in full fighting regalia for this Friday night's encounter.

"The fans had better be there if they don't want to miss several eye fulls" said Manager Swain.

It will be remembered that Manager "Hot-Towel" Swain has a way with the ladies as well as a way of managing, so he probably has a real treat in store for the fans.

Senator Lewis Sees Nation In Peril of Insurrection

Washington, June 23.—Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois asserted in the Senate today that the Nation is in great peril of insurrection as a result of prolonged labor strife.

He spoke in opposition to any reduction in the $663,000,000 War Appropriation bill, because "America is on the eve of a period similar to that which preceded that of the Civil War."

"There is not a state in the Union which is not in condition of riotous suspense," he continued. "Where government is to survive, it must assert itself as government, or it will wither away and die."

Labor disorders in Germany and Italy eventually led to "tyranny and despotism," he said.

OF MISSOURI

We acknowledge the receipt of a card from Judge T. F. Henry written from Aberdeen, Idaho, in which he says he and Mrs. Henry are having a very enjoyable time. The weather cool, climate delightful, great grain producing country, sheep raising, sugar beet industry. They are expected back in Sikeston about July 4th.

The recent wholesale resignation of men teachers from the Sikeston high school faculty is an indication that the Board of Education may have to boost salaries of men teachers to compete in a measure with those offered by other schools and other lines of work if they expect to keep and acquire first class teachers. Most schools also have a salary schedule flexible enough to cover extra-curricular activities and work outside of regular school hours.

The manager of the City Recreation Parlor and Pool Hall on North Kingshighway has in his possession a bottle of Coca-Cola with a 5-inch brass nozzle and more than enough copper for a shot-gun wedding ring. If the contents of the bottle had not been discovered in time the results for the person trying this refreshing drink might have been serious.

The matter of the United States financing the rum traffic in the Virgin Islands was debated in the Senate at Washington Monday. Why any one should get excited over such a vile drink as rum is a puzzle to us. One drink of the stuff will certainly break a man from taking the second drink, and we know.

SOME SCOTT COUNTY FARM BUREAU NEWS

1938 Begins Now

The year of sheep income for 1938 began after lambs were dropped and wool was clipped this spring. This means that care and treatment of the breeding flock now will influence the yield of wool and lambs next year, due to a lot of summer ills such as parasites that invade the flock. Outside of stomach worms, which can be controlled by the bluestone treatment, the other main trouble this time of year is from lice and ticks which too often go untreated. Lice affect sheep in the same manner as chickens by sucking blood causing paleness and a weakened condition. In sheep they are apt to go from ewes to lambs after shearing, due to better protection in the lambs wool.

Farmers in Scott county owning sheep will profit by dipping soon for lice and ticks with any of the recommended treatments. County Agent Veach adds that the cost of treatment is usually sufficient and provides a more healthy condition for the animals to go through the winter.

Poison Bait Being Used

Scott county farmers have already used more than 20,000 pounds of grasshopper poison bait in their fields since the federal poison was made available, and many have been too busy in the wheat fields to call for the poison they need. With the arrival of another car of poison and bait Saturday, other counties are coming to Scott county for their share. Farmers from Holland in Pemiscot and near Campbell in Dunklin counties obtained poison in the early part of the week. Mississippi county requested that poison be reserved until they could determine their needs more completely.

"The present situation is about as follows," says County Agent Veach. "Every day that poisoning is postponed will require that much more poison be used on account of the hoppers spreading.

As soon as all wheat and rye is cut the hoppers will tend to move into the greener crops, such as corn etc."

"It should be kept in mind two farmers each using the same amount of poison along their division fence will do more good than if one used twice as much alone."

Tomato Fruit Worm

The tomato fruit worm is now appearing in spots in this section of the state. It is very similar to the corn ear worm in appearance. It damages the tomato by boring into the fruit which destroys it.

A spray of 3 level tablespoons full of arsenate to 1 gallon of water will control this pest. It should be applied when the tomatoes are about the size of marbles.

Early Wheat Ahead

Reports from Roy M. Johnson and W. Sayers Tanner indicate that the early wheat has fully matured and the recent rains and hot sun have not caused it to shrivel. These two fields are the only fields of Missouri Early Premium wheat being grown in Scott County this year.

Excessive moisture and hot sun caused a great loss in the yield of ordinary wheat in the majority of cases. An early maturing variety seems to solve this problem. Mr. Tanner has had his field of Missouri Early Premium inspected for certification and will have a small quantity of seed wheat for sale.

Many farmers have inspected this field. If the yield turns out as it now appears it will, a large acreage will be sown this fall. Mr. Tanner has already contracted several bushels to farmers, some of which are in Butler county.

Better Seed Sources For Scott

The Missouri Corn Growers' Association was organized for the purpose of improving farm seeds. As the name indicates, corn was considered first. Soon other farm seeds were included.

Standards of quality have been set up by this Association which are becoming more rigid each year. Several growers of spring harvested grains have applied to this association for field inspection in order to include their crops for seed purposes.

Growers are encouraged in clean production and to grow crops that are worthy of being used as seed.

Rotations are followed that will reduce chances of diseases, seed treatments are used to reduce diseases, fields are gone through and noxious weeds and foreign plants are removed to increase purity. In fact, every available means is followed to improve the quality.

Fields of Missouri Early Beardless barley, Columbia Oats, Abuzzia rye, Fulbio wheat, and Missouri Early Premium wheat have been inspected this spring in Scott county. Farmers who wish to purchase good seed can secure the names of these men at the County Agent's office in Benton. Last year certified seed was exhausted before all orders were filled. This will probably be the case this year. An early order will insure delivery of the seed wanted.

Melon Plans Made

Ways of marketing melons and cantaloupes to increase the net income to Scott county growers were discussed at a meeting of producers at Blodgett Monday.

Several factors were pointed out by Gordon B. Nance, Marketing Specialist from Columbia, that the grower can use this year. He advised pruning the misshapen and undesirable melons as they appear, leaving only five or less per hill. This results in more marketable melons of better quality. Outside of pulling only vine-ripe melons for sale, the chief factor is grading the melons offered for sale.

"Since the U. S. Grade Standards permit only a two-pound variation in weight either way of an average, the value to a farmer of a set of small scales to quickly determine where a melon belongs cannot be overestimated," Mr. Nance says. He also discussed several suggestions from the various railroads to shippers.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friend, and love one for their kindness and help during the illness and death of our darling baby, Baraba Ruth Palmer and also for the beautiful flowers.—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Palmer.

Tree windbreaks serve a useful function in the immediate vicinity of farm buildings—providing effective protection against snow and winter winds says R. H. Westveld of the Missouri College of Agriculture. By proper placement of the belt of trees it is possible to keep the snow where it will cause the least inconvenience. Orchards too are often benefited by a tree windbreak, receiving the benefit of improved soil moisture in much the same way as field crops. Protection against late spring frosts has been noted in some cases. Of equal importance is the reduced windfall damage to fruit crops, especially when the fruit is nearly maturity.

HEAD MAN...and the whole road knows it

THERE'S one thing you can tell from the very look of Buick—when the man behind this wheel bugles for road-room—room on the road is what he's going to get!

For here's the boss car of the bunch this year—and the whole road knows it. Under that deep-barreled bonnet is the ablest straight-eight engine in the world—you'll never have need for all the power this quick and quiet giant can pour forth.

It's rugged, solid, firm-set, built close to the road—there's no wander or weave, no sideway on the curves.

Try the wheel. Obedient as your finger. Press the brakes. A toe-touch stops you soft and sure. Check the take-off. You get the jump at every light, nimble as a sprinter breaking fast out of his hole.

Yes, this glorious Buick is head man of the highway—and that's the kind of car we think you want. It's the kind of car you can easily have. For with all that's in this stand-out performer—it still sells at the lowest Buick prices ever.

Match price tags with the sixes and you'll find you can afford this eight. Why aren't you driving one now?

USED CAR BARGAINS

Washington Current Comment

Last week it was suggested in this column that the Supreme Court issue had entered upon a Rip Van Winkle snooze, which goes to prove that the prophet's mantle may become uncomfortable. As a matter of fact, the plan to reorganize the court seems very much alive. The report of the Senate Judiciary Committee has been turned in, is unfavorable, and the whole business is laid open for discussion on the floor. It is said that indications are that the measure will be defeated, the chances that a compromise will be turned down being by no means so certain. Regardless of which way the pendulum swings, no one can deny that the court issue has given the country something to think about and fight over. Thinking and fighting at least have the merit of taking one's mind off the hot weather.

Without going too deeply into details or committing himself as to ways and means or exact results to be accomplished, the President states that he is at work in the direction of enlarging the wealth of the nation, raising incomes in the lower paid areas of the population, and increasing the purchasing power of the dollar there. That is a huge task, beside which repairing the Supreme Court and providing temporary relief shrink to the small dust of the balance. So great an undertaking is more than a one-man job, and the President recognizes it as such. During the World War, it was said that many uniformed and commissioned federal officials wore spurs to keep their feet from sliding off their desks. Heads and not feet will be over desks if the President puts into operation the movement which as yet he has but faintly outlined.

But for the events of the Civil War, the town of Gettysburg would be unknown, a sleeping Pennsylvania village, sizzling in the summer heat of the surrounding plain, and it is due to Napoleon's activities that we do not have to address the information bureau of some news paper to find out where Waterloo is located. Johnstown, in the state of Pennsylvania, might have rested in a like obscurity had not the course of events brought it repeatedly to the front.

At present the little city is entertaining a strike, involving the Bethlehem Steel Company, the American Federation of Labor, the C. I. O. and thousands who have no direct connection with any of the organizations mentioned. It is a strange coincidence that Johnstown should appear before the public eye almost on the anniversary of what may be said to have its first appearance on the pages of history. On the 31st of May, forty-eight years ago, a dam above Johnstown broke, with a loss of more than 2000 lives. It was about that time that a flood took a toll of almost a million persons in China; and so it appears that the United States, and Johnstown in particular, is not the worst place in the world in which to live, the didoes of men and the wild actions of nature to the contrary notwithstanding.

Back in those days, disaster could be relieved only by a passing of the hat when something happened. Concerts and benefits of one kind and another were devised to help the sufferers, but many of them had to continue to suffer for some time before the cash actually reached them. Today the Red Cross and similar bodies are on the ground the next day, not merely sympathetic but equipped to meet the emergency. Such service means preparation and preparation costs money. The donating public perhaps has been a little too hard in its statements that a great deal of what is given to organized charity goes into overhead.

Taking a long step across the ocean, seventy workers in a French mill fainted, the cause being unknown. Since nobody was seriously hurt by the experience, it may be commented upon in a light vein. Maybe the thought of those unpaid war debts overcame them. If the indebtedness ever troubled Europe to the fainting point, there seems to have been a complete recovery. The papers say that the French mill hands received about $6.25 a week. If they had their minds on the possibility of having to pay up, no wonder they fainted.

There Is No Standard Way To Build Low-Cost Roads

There is no standard method of building low-cost roads, according to engineers of the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. Methods used successfully in one location may not be the best under different conditions.

In building low-cost roads local materials must be used or the roads will not be low in cost. Wide variations in natural materials such as sand, gravel, topsoil, and clay make it necessary to adapt construction methods to the materials used. The stability or load-supporting power of a low-cost surface depends upon the content of material that is not softened by water. Sand, gravel, cinders, slag, and crushed stone all have this property, but must either contain or have added to them a small amount of binder—clay most commonly. Only enough clay to hold the particles together should be used. An excess causes mud and rutting. A wide variety of mixtures has been successfully used, many of them containing 70 to 80 per cent of hard particles with a clay binder.

Engineers are further improving low-cost surfaces with bituminous materials, chemicals, and other products. A good surface mixture with plenty of hard particles, either fine or coarse, is a first requirement. It is not worth while to treat a poor soil.

FIFTH OF JULY PARADE TO THE DOCTOR'S OFFICE

Stating that "more lives have been lost in celebrating Independence than were lost in gaining it," the Missouri Tuberculosis Association has issued a list of health precautions to prevent the annual "Fifth of July parade to the doctor's office."

In addition to the usual accidents from fire-works, automobile smash-ups, and drownings, there are a number of health hazards connected with Fourth of July picnicking and week-ending that the average person is likely to overlook, the association points out.

"Do not drink from streams or casual springs. Regardless of how pure and sparkling the water may look, typhoid germs may be present. If no other source of supply is available, boil the water before using," the statement says.

"When camping, select a site of high ground if possible, away from swamps, sloughs, or other mosquito breeding places. A certain type of mosquito carries malaria germs.

"Learn to distinguish vines such as poison ivy, oak and sumac. If they are touched, wash the affected parts in soap and warm water immediately and see a doctor as soon as possible.

"Just because it is a holiday does not permit your stomach to accommodate large quantities of hot dogs, pink lemonade, sour pickles and bananas. Don't overeat, and beware of vicious combinations.

"Remember that whisky is not an antidote for snake bite.

"Carry a small, simple, first aid kit. Your doctor will tell you what it should include.

"Don't try to get a tan in one day. Bad results frequently have followed excessive exposure to the sun."

NEST

The fairy tern is a most trustful bird. It lays its eggs on the naked surface of a limb of a tree, or in a convenient knot-hole along the branch.

The king penguin, however, does not trust its egg to any one location; it carries it about balanced on its toes.

A great compost heap of leaves and roots hides the eggs of a brush turkey, where the heat generated hatches the eggs and saves the turkey the trouble of sitting on them.

Pure saliva makes the nest of the swifts in Indo-Malay.

The nest of the hummingbird is almost impossible to find.

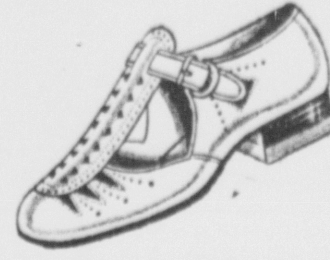

Wrens are born architects, and make extra nests while the females are raising a family. These unoccupied homes are called cocks' nests.

Weaver birds build straw apartments to house many families in South Africa.

Eight feet across, twelve feet deep, and two tons in weight—that's the story they tell about an eagle's nest in Vermilion, Ohio.

In Maryland, where ospreys build on telephone poles, provision is made for the birds by putting up extra poles for their use. How the birds know the difference is not explained.

But the tallest story of all says the southern rufous woodpecker braves the stings of wasps, drives the bees out of their nest and takes possession, trusting his own tough legs and his feathers to guard him against the original owners, and trusting his forbidding habitat to guard his eggs against attack from other birds.

His wife, determined to cure him of his evil ways, with the aid of a sheet and an electric torch, transformed herself into a fair resemblance of a ghost. She went in and snook the drunkard. "Whash that?" murmured the toper.

"This is the devil," came the answer in sepulchral tones.

"Shake hands, old horsh, I married your sister."

Then there are cotton fields for miles that are clean and you can almost hear the plants grow. Dunklin County will certainly come into her own this time if the season continues favorable.

In some sections of the Central West the pilot or aviator doesn't stand ace high. Down in Arkansas one of them deceived a poor innocent cotton chopper and flew the country. Later he concluded the manly thing to do was to return and marry the girl. So he approached the Old Man and told him he had been thinking matters over and had come to the conclusion that the thing to do was to marry the daughter. The Old Man said they had been doing some thinking, too, and they had come to the conclusion that they would rather have a bastard in the family than a pilot.

With the passing of our leading citizen the Bank of Sikeston will carry on until the name of Matthews is extinct. It was built on a solid foundation by a man who knew men and money and who knew how to, and did, guard the obligations and trust of those who trusted him. These same traits are inbred and handed down from father to son. These young men and boys can keep this fact in their mind "that my father and grandfather have passed on but they are watching over me from on high."

The show "Under the 4-H Flag" was presented in Risco Monday afternoon and at New Madrid Monday night. The attendance, 241 at Risco and 233 at New Madrid, was exceptionally good. This show was enjoyed by those who attended (inspite of the heat). It's portrayal of 4-H club work as conducted in all parts of the United States was impressive. The 4-H club boys and girls who were there went home with a desire to do a better job in their clubs.

The 4-H pig club boys from Risco did a good soda pop business during both shows. They are going to use the money earned to pay part of their expenses to the club camp in Arcadia in July.

The first cotton blooms for Pemiscot county were reported yesterday after noon on the farm of J. O. Hemphill five miles south of here.

The second farmer to report cotton blooms was A. Gursay, farming on the General American Farms five miles southwest of Deering.

The first cotton bloom reported in 1936 was on June 19. Cotton prospects for Pemiscot county are reported good although the six inch rain two weeks ago did much to damage crops in the lowlands. Farmers are reporting early corn as looking exceptionally good in this section.

Helium gas, which is used in dirigibles, is obtained in certain sections of the United States, notably in Texas, where natural gas pockets contain sufficient helium to justify its separation. The natural gases are cooled in a low temperature at which all solidify except helium, which is piped off.

PROSPERITY NOTES

(Compiled by Dwight H. Brown, Secretary of State.)

The National Industrial Conference Board in a recent survey estimates there are now 6,900,000 unemployed persons in the United States, the lowest number since 1931. Skilled labor shortages have been reported from practically every industry, notably in the building-construction trades and agriculture. General wage levels are higher today than ever before.

Our export trade this year has been expanding at a rate higher than anticipated, says the magazine Business Week. April exports were the largest since the third quarter of 1930, on a seasonally adjusted basis. Machinery, vehicles, non-metallic mineral products, and metals and manufactures were largely responsible. In the first four months exports of metals and manufactures were 90 per cent ahead of the same period in 1936. Steel exports, excluding scrap, were the highest since 1921, while scrap exports reached a new peak.

The Commerce Department reports the national income totaled $62,056,000,000 in 1936, or $7,411,000,000 over 1935. Officials predict the figure will reach $70,000,000,000 this year. From 1933 to 1936, the report shows, the national income climbed 38 per cent while the cost of living advanced only 8 per cent.

The largest dividends since last November, when the undistributed earnings tax forced a record disbursement of over $883,000,000, were declared last month, when $524,198,349 was reported by 993 companies. Copper, steel, and oil companies contributed heavily to this result.

World production of zinc and refined lead for the first four months of 1937 increased over the corresponding period of 1936, says the American Bureau of Metal Statistics. Zinc production was 583,314 short tons against 516,913, a gain of 66,401. Lead production reached 586,385, compared with 540,436 in the same 1936 months, an increase of 45,941.

Construction in 37 Eastern States during May totaled $244,112,800, compared with $216,070,700 in May, 1936, a gain of 11 per cent. F. W. Dodge Corporation, reports. In April construction totaled $269,934,200.

At least 357 manufacturers were making automobile trailers of one sort or another last year, according to the first census of this budding industry, says Business Week. They made 53,646 of them, worth $27,421,763 at the factory gate. The bulk of them were house trailers—16,173 worth $525 apiece, or $8,496,021. California had the largest number of manufacturers of trailers, or 86, but Michigan with 58 concerns sold the largest number of trailers, valued at more than $14,200,000.

Another low point was touched during the latest period, when the number of commercial and industrial failures in the United States dropped to the lowest level for a full week since December 10, 1936. The total reported to Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., for the week ended Thursday, June 10, was 161, against 172 a year ago.

The Association of American

Railroads reports class 1 carriers had estimated operating revenues of $284,140,831 in May, an increase of 8.3 per cent over the same month last year. The association's estimates were based on preliminary reports from 88 roads representing 81.7 per cent of total operating revenues.

Two other industries whose third quarters regularly sees a steadily rising volume of business are the oil burner and mechanical stoker producers. First four months new orders for burners ran 41 per cent ahead of the same months of 1936. In the same period, stoker manufacturers reported sales running 49 per cent ahead of 1936.

ANCIENT SHELTER FOUND IN MONTANA

Billings, Mont., June 20.—Discovery of an ancient shelter containing artifacts and other traces of human habitation which may shed light on the origin of man in North America was disclosed today by Prof. Melville Sayre of the Montana School of Mines.

The shelter, weathered into a cliff side and measuring 180 feet by 50 feet, was found a month ago seven miles south of Billings by three amateur archaeologists—Mr. and Mrs. Jim Browne of Denver and Herbert Barringer of Billings.

The stratified site, Sayre explained, may provide clues to bolster the theory that man migrated from Asia to North America.

ica by way of the Bering Strait and the Mackenzie River Valley in Canada.

Preliminary surveys, showed two levels of human habitation—one about 4 feet under the floor of the shelter and another about 4 feet lower.

This message is an appeal to truck drivers. The trucking industry has achieved some remarkable results in accident prevention. There has been a great improvement in the past four or five years, not only in the conduct of these drivers, but also in their personal habits and their driving.

Occasionally, however, you will find several large trucks being driven along our highways very close together. This makes it difficult for private passenger cars to pass them because of the speed involved and the length of time it takes to pass two or three of these large trucks.

Truck drivers should maintain the proper amount of space between trucks in order that private passenger cars and other traveling at a faster rate of speed can turn in when passing these large trucks. It is an added measure of safety, and the same principle can also apply to private passenger cars traveling close together.

This is a dangerous hazard and one that we can all help to correct.

"Louie the 14th," A Ziegfeld Extravaganza, At Municipal Opera

St. Louis, June 21.—Ziegfeld's hilarious musical extravaganza, "Louie the 14th," will be given for the first time at the Municipal Theatre in Forest Park, as the fourth offering of the 1937 Municipal Opera season, beginning Monday night, June 28, and continuing for seven nights.

The play will bring a group of outstanding comedians and singers for their first time, headed by Al Trahan, international-famous singing and dancing comedian. Trahan has been featured in every leading vaudeville house in this country and abroad, as well as a star of several New York and London musical offerings. He has appeared in several command performances in England, and Trahan was described as the "man who made the King laugh," after playing before the late King George. On Broadway he was starred in the "Second Little Show" and Earl Carroll's "Vanities." He has been engaged by the Municipal Opera especially for the ludicrous role of Louie Ketchup in "Louie the 14th."

Other newcomers to appear in the show are Wilbur Evans, star of the concert, radio, operetta and oratorio circles; Margaret Daum, soprano, who last month made her New York Metropolitan Opera debut; Olive Olsen, stage and movie comedienne, and Yukona Cameron, stage comedienne. Several prominent dancers also will be featured in "Louie the 14th," including Bert Prival, a premier dancer of the Hollywood Ballet; Helene Denison, a leading danseuse at the Municipal Theatre last summer, and the Hudson Wonders, an acrobatic team.

Other stars, all of whom have appeared in previous Municipal Opera plays this summer, who will be seen in the Ziegfeld success are Annamary Dickey, Lew Parker, Phil Porterfield, Gus Howard, Detmar Poppen, Ruth Urban, and Erika Zaranova. Victor Casmore, principal of other seasons, also will return for "Louie the 14th."

Music for the humorous stage production was written by Sigismund Romberg, composer of scores for "Maytime," "Blossom Time," "The Student Prince," "New Moon," and "The Desert Song." Arthur Wimperis, librettist, adapted the story and lyrics from a German book. The plot centers around Louis Ketchup, who after serving with the A. E. F. in France, decides to remain on the other side after the Armistice is signed. While yodeling around an inn he is engaged by a rich American to serve as the fourteenth guest at a dinner party for which it is suddenly discovered only thirteen have been invited. Louie's adventures then are many and comical.

SIKESTON GOLFERS MEET CAPE CLUB HERE SUNDAY

The Sikeston Country Club golf team, which last Sunday maintained its perfect tournament record in the eastern division of the Southeast Missouri League by defeating the Hillcrest clubbers at Hillcrest 40 to 13, will meet the Cape Girardeau County Club team in a special match here next Sunday afternoon.

In tournament play the Sikeston Club won all four matches has defeating Charleston, Hayti, and Hillcrest two times. They lost in a home-and-home match with Poplar Bluff at Poplar Bluff two weeks ago. The Cape Country Club team defeated the team from Arcadia on the Cape course last Sunday by a score of 40 to 6.

In an earlier match this season the Cape Country Club lost to West Frankford, Ill., there. In the Hillcrest-Sikeston match Sunday Orville Lumsden of Sikeston shot the lowest score with a 70. George Helton of Hillcrest was one stroke behind, with a 71.

Alexander, McClure, Phillips, Medley, Taubert, Sidwell, Mathis and Moose each made three points for Sikeston, and Lumsden, Morrison, Keith, Foster, and Rost two points, and H. Kirk, G. Kirk and Matthews one point each. Bill Green was the only Hillcrest player to score a possible three points for his team, while Dolf Walters, Dave Hawkins, Huff, Don Walters added two points and Helton one point.

Scores of the match, with the names of Hillcrest players appearing first:

Hilton 71, Lumsden 70, Stark 84, Alexander 78, Carey 94, McClure 84, Gangle 94, Phillips 79, Dolf Walters 76, H. Kirk 79, Reitzel 90, Morris 84, D. Hawkins 78, G. ### SUICIDE VERDICT FOUND IN CARUTHERSVILLE DEATH

Caruthersville, June 21.—Coroner Jack Kelly said today Mrs. Beulah Thurman, 45, wife of Elmer Thurman, a farmer, ended her own life by firing two bullets from a pistol into her head. The body was found behind an outbuilding at the Thurman home 9 miles south of here Sunday afternoon. Her husband and two daughters survive.

DELCO-FRIGIDAIRE FOR HOME COMFORT SAYS F. D. LAIR

Being one's own weather man may on its face sound like a fantastic idea, yet it is something that is actually true in the case of thousands of owners of electric room coolers, according to F. D. Lair, local dealer for Delco-Frigidaire air conditioning products.

"With the type of modern equipment available today," said Mr. F. D. Lair, "a person may enter his living room, his office or even his bed room, flip a small dial and actually tune in on comfort for his body which he can get out of the air. And he can do this regardless of how hot the weather may be outside."

"Electric room coolers today do everything their name implies, and even more. They not only make hot rooms cool, but they transform sticky, muggy rooms into areas of cool delightful comfort. And they do this continuously, silently and automatically. Bed rooms which have formerly held out no promise of anything other than nights of misery in midsummer have been made into regular havens of rest and relaxation by the simple process of moving in a Frigidaire room cooler which occupies space comparable with a console radio. Offices which heretofore have been deserted by all except those forced to remain under torrid conditions, and presenting outstanding examples of inefficiency and employee discomfort, have become atmospheric Meccas appealing to customers and clients as well as high class employees."

"Yet in all of this," continued Mr. F. D. Lair, "there is nothing new or experimental. There is not a single fundamental principle involved that has not been used on electric refrigeration for years and proved in multiplied millions of homes and stores. Of course in the Frigidaire cooler there are some unique methods which have been worked out in applying such principles, which made for the ultimate in convenience to the user and beauty for the eye."

"There is no classification of human beings that cannot benefit from the use of electric room coolers. Infants, youth and busy adults as well as the aged or the ill find comfort and satisfaction in this new escape from summer's terrific heat. Contributing to health and efficiency, available in a number of sizes and styles at popular prices and easy terms, electric room coolers are well on their way to reveal the great popularity of the electric refrigerator of the last decade."

GOV. STARK VETOS
BAFFLE BOARD BILL

Jefferson City, June 22.—Gov. Stark today vetoed a bill making it a misdemeanor to operate any pin ball game or baffle board as a game of chance, for money or property, on the ground it was intended to reduce the penalty for operation of certain kinds of slot machines, and to reduce the classification of the offense from a felony to a misdemeanor.

The bill, introduced in the House by Representatives Maurice Schechter and John A. Sullivan of St. Louis, defined operation of pin ball games or baffle boards, for money or property or the inducing of persons to play such devices, as a misdemeanor. The bill fixed the penalty at imprisonment in jail for not less than 30 days nor more than six months, or a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $500, or both fine and imprisonment.

Stark in his veto message pointed out that Missouri laws make the operation of slot machine a felony, punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than two years nor more than five years, or a jail sentence of six months to one year. He pointed out the bill would reduce the classification of the crime and the penalties for operation of the type of machines involved.

"I do not believe that the punishment for the crime of setting up or operating a slot machine should be reduced," the Governor said. "This, in my opinion, is a bill seeking to minimize the punishment of what is today in our State a continuing felony, committed hourly and daily in open, flagrant violation of our laws."
